“During Spring/Summer '24 I worked with Lily [CPD Project Manager] to develop some bespoke training for our TAs. I was able to talk through our specific training needs with her, and she [...] put together an Early Childhood Development Programme that has been delivered to our primary class teams this academic year. This has been received very well by our class teams, and we have opened up the training to our secondary classes as well. All in all, I felt listened to and valued throughout the whole process and feel that the training has helped to deepen our TAs’ understanding of the needs of our neurodiverse learners.”

Siobhain Canney, Assistant Headteacher at Ickburgh School

Welcome

Welcome to the Hackney Services for Schools Professional Development Roadmap for the 2026–27 academic year.

In an increasingly complex educational landscape, navigating the wide array of local, regional, and national professional development offers requires clear strategic oversight. This roadmap has been designed as a single, cohesive framework - unifying disparate training streams to support school leaders and business managers in making informed, cost-effective decisions for their staff.

Strategic Overview

The CPD Team at Hackney Services for Schools directly coordinates the central CPD Package Offer for primary, secondary, and special schools, but there are many more training opportunities available to schools beyond our offer. This document aims to serve as an overarching directory for the borough's entire educational ecosystem, encompassing local and national opportunities and signposting them to schools. The CPD team functions as a central conduit, aligning local authority provision with opportunities from the East London Teaching School Hub, National Curriculum Hubs, NHS Homerton, and local partnerships.

Navigating this Document

This publication is designed to function as both a physical printed guide and a digital portal.

1. The Compass: Pages 8-9 provide a visual overview of all available training routes for schools in Hackney.
2. Detailed offer: The following pages outline specific content, associated costs, target audiences, key contacts and booking information.
3. Digital Integration: Scan the QR code or go to <https://tinyurl.com/HackneyCPDbrochure> to view this brochure complete with all booking links.

Hackney Services for Schools remains committed to supporting schools through high-quality, responsive professional development. We look forward to partnering with your school throughout the coming academic year.

Summary

Led by SEND specialist Margaret Mulholland, this programme supports schools to implement their Inclusion Strategies and embed adaptive teaching practices across all classrooms. Building on the borough-wide inclusion strategy support delivered in autumn 2026, the programme focuses on practical execution and classroom application. Participants examine how to identify and remove structural barriers to learning, establish effective monitoring routines, and evaluate the direct impact of adaptive teaching on SEND pupil outcomes. The training brings together leadership teams, teachers, and support staff to develop a shared pedagogical approach, supporting improved attainment and wellbeing for pupils with SEND and other vulnerable cohorts across the school.

DfE SEND reform teacher training initiative

Key Information

The Ambition Institute has been appointed by the Department for Education to design new national professional development resources for Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) training. Rolling out from autumn 2027, the universal workforce offer supports the government's "Every Child Achieving and Thriving" reforms.

Rollout Schedule

- September 2027: Initial training materials published to help staff understand proposed reforms, establish an inclusive vision, and plan professional growth
- December 2027: Further modules focusing on pedagogy, inclusive environments, and working in partnership with parents
- Spring 2028: Additional rollout of pedagogy and environment materials

Target Audience

- Teachers and classroom practitioners
- School and trust leaders
- Teaching assistants and support staff

Ambition Institute want these materials to be as useful and relevant as possible. Your feedback, and insights from across the sector, will help us make sure they are as useful as possible. If you'd like to contribute or share suggestions, please email innovation@ambition.org.uk.

Summary

This professional development offer provides staff across all roles with structured frameworks to discuss equity, examine institutional practice, and develop anti-racist approaches in education. The training addresses racial literacy, helping staff build confidence and shared language to discuss equity and recognise microaggressions within educational settings. Participants examine systemic factors in education to evaluate their impact on pupil outcomes, while engaging in guided reflection to identify and reduce implicit bias. Content focuses on developing approaches that reflect Hackney's diverse school communities, embedding anti-racist principles into school equality objectives, and strengthening constructive relationships with parents, carers, and local stakeholders.

“Working with Lily on a bespoke programme was a really positive experience for our school. Following initial discussions around our priorities, particularly in relation to behaviour, Lily supported us in identifying and sourcing an excellent facilitator whose expertise closely matched our needs. She guided the process throughout, from shaping the focus of the CPD to ensuring the provision was both high quality and financially accessible for us as a school. Her responsiveness and understanding of our context meant the training felt well tailored and easy to implement in practice.

The overall experience was highly collaborative, and we have already seen a positive impact on staff confidence and consistency in approach.”

Summary

The Hackney Headteacher Peer Coaching Programme offers confidential, structured coaching designed specifically for primary, secondary and special school headteachers. In 2026-27 this programme will be expanded to include coaching for deputy headteachers.

Distinct from mentoring or formal evaluation, peer coaching provides a non-judgemental space focused entirely on professional reflection, strategic problem-solving, and leadership development. Conversations are structured around the specific priorities and questions brought by the coachee. All coaching discussions remain strictly confidential between coach and coachee, ensuring an objective environment in which leaders can evaluate complex school challenges and plan strategic next steps.

Summary

Delivered in partnership with Inspiration for All, this peer-mentoring programme pairs school leaders with senior business executives to drive social mobility and enhance leadership capability. Specifically designed for Headteachers, Executive Heads, Deputy Heads, and System Leads in schools with 35% or higher Free School Meal entitlement, the initiative bridges the gap between the educational and corporate sectors. Through nine monthly sessions, participants are matched with senior partners from firms such as Linklaters, KPMG, EY, and BNP Paribas, gaining a trusted, objective sounding board. These conversations enable school leaders to step back from operational management, reflect on high-level strategic decisions, and develop the adaptive leadership skills needed to improve outcomes for their students.

Daily Supported Reading

Key Information

Dates

Venue

Summary

Daily Supported Reading is Hackney Education's systematic approach to early reading instruction for EYFS and KS1, as well as targeted catch-up support for lower-attaining readers in KS2. The programme uses daily small-group sessions where pupils read finely levelled texts alongside trained adults.

Core components include targeted group instruction matched precisely to pupil reading levels, structured development for teachers and support staff, and embedded running records to track progress accurately. The offer includes twice-yearly training for new staff, termly best-practice forums for coordinators, and access to an online portal containing lesson guides and leadership templates for primary settings.

Destination Reader

Key Information

Dates

Venue

Summary

Destination Reader is Hackney Education's structured approach to reading instruction across KS2. Combining daily teacher modelling, structured partner discussion, and independent reading, the programme systematically builds pupil comprehension and reading engagement. The model provides explicit instruction in seven core comprehension strategies: predicting, inferring, questioning, evaluating, clarifying, connecting, and summarising. It embeds structured oracy using sentence stems to help pupils articulate textual evidence collaboratively. Designed to work flexibly alongside high-quality texts selected by the school, the programme includes a train-the-trainer framework equipping reading leads with implementation toolkits, formative assessment guides, and access to a central online resource portal.

KS2 Writing Moderation for Leaders, Middle Leaders and Year 6 Class Teachers

Key Information

Dates

Tuesday, 23 February 2027 | 13.30 – 15.30

Venue

The Tomlinson
Centre

Summary

This moderation session uses official Standards and Testing Agency training materials to support primary schools in making accurate, evidence-based judgements for KS2 writing assessments. Designed for Year 6 teachers, assessment leads, middle leaders, and senior leadership, the session focuses on evaluating pupil portfolios against the Teacher Assessment Frameworks. Participants examine exemplars to clarify threshold differences across Working Towards, Expected Standard, and Greater Depth standards. Content covers recent moderation updates, evidence requirements across writing genres, and aligning teacher judgements with national benchmarking criteria. Accredited KS2 moderators who have completed official STA training do not need to attend this session.

Moderation of Writing in Year 6

Key Information

Dates

Thursday, 26 November 2026 | 13.30 - 16.30

Venue

The Tomlinson Centre

Summary

This practical moderation workshop brings together Year 6 teachers to review pupil writing, benchmark assessment judgements, and ensure consistent application of national writing standards ahead of statutory reporting. Suitable for both new and experienced Year 6 practitioners, the session combines guided input on the statutory Teacher Assessment Framework with collaborative moderation practice. Participants evaluate writing samples alongside borough colleagues to calibrate assessment standards across different genres. Core objectives include developing a precise understanding of TAF criteria, moderating pupil writing samples against national exemplification materials, and engaging in professional discussion with peer teachers to verify assessment accuracy before final submission.

Moderation of writing in Year 6: securing judgements for borderline pupils

Key Information

Dates

Thursday, 29 April 2027 | 16.00 – 17.30

Venue

The Tomlinson Centre

Summary

This practical moderation session is specifically designed to help Year 6 teachers evaluate borderline writing profiles and secure confident assessment judgements ahead of statutory reporting. The workshop addresses cases where pupils demonstrate aspects of the Teacher Assessment Framework statements, but evidence requires closer review to confirm whether the standard is securely met. Participants evaluate pupil work, identify specific evidence gaps, and discuss classroom adjustments to address missing criteria across Working Towards, Expected Standard, and Greater Depth profiles. Participants must bring pupil writing books representing each assessment standard to evaluate during the practical session alongside experienced facilitators and borough peers.

Hackney's Centralised CPD Dates Spreadsheet

To support our educational community with navigating all the training that exists in the borough, the CPD Team at Hackney Services for Schools has created a one-stop shop for all training, whether that be dated training sessions or CPD by arrangement.

After you follow the QR code below, you will be able to access 3 different tabs:

- CPD Date Schedule 2026/27: Serves as the primary chronological calendar for fixed-date training courses and central workshops throughout the academic year.
 - How to use: Filter rows by target Phase or Theme (Curriculum & Pedagogy, SEND/Inclusion, Leadership, or Business & Operations) to build your school's training schedule, verify package cost eligibility, and click the direct booking links or email contacts to register.
- CPD Date Timeline: A visual representation of fixed-date training to offer Hackney's educational communities an easier way to navigate training and workshop dates.
 - How to use: All training is coloured by theme and covers the whole academic year. The timeline is divided into six distinct half-term section headers (Autumn 1, Autumn 2, Spring 1, Spring 2, Summer 1, and Summer 2) to help schools plan term by term.
- CPD by Arrangement 2026/27: Houses flexible, ongoing, bespoke, and multi-session programmes that are arranged on demand or delivered directly in-school.
 - How to Use: Review the eligibility and audience criteria for your staff, then use the designated lead email addresses or portal links in the final column to request custom dates or enroll in active cohort work groups.
